

Under-Utilized Space Memorandum As of July 24, 2024

The New York City Department of Education (referred to in this document as NYCPS) seeks to ensure that students and families in every community have access to educational options that meet their needs. Limited space availability, coupled with the changing needs of NYC’s students, requires that NYCPS use existing public school buildings in the most efficient manner possible. Therefore, NYCPS looks to use under-utilized space in existing buildings to meet these needs, including but not limited to:

- The addition of new educational programs (e.g. 3K, Pre-K, District 75 programs, G&T, ASD Nest and Horizon programs, etc.);
- Expansion of existing schools or programs in the building;
- Enrollment changes, including re-zoning schools to address community needs, such as overcrowding and integration; and
- Temporary or permanent co-location of new or re-sited schools.

To support these efforts, NYCPS publishes a list of under-utilized buildings identified by applying consistent criteria to all school buildings across the city. Inclusion on this list recognizes that a building will potentially have excess space that could be utilized more efficiently. However, it is important to note that inclusion on this list does not imply that NYCPS will propose a change in building utilization. Any proposed change would be preceded by an analysis of available space by the Office of District Planning and the Office of Space Management, as well as extensive community engagement, including the public review process governed by Chancellor’s Regulation A-190 where applicable. It is important to note that there are buildings that meet the criteria for inclusion on this list that NYCPS does not believe would be suitable for the co-location of additional programs or schools, although the under-utilized space in these buildings may be suitable for other uses.

Buildings with a projected excess of at least 150 seats are deemed under-utilized for the purposes of this list. The list of buildings determined to be under-utilized is subject to amendment based upon further analysis.

Based on the current methodology described below, NYCPS has classified 529 buildings as under-utilized. This includes:

- 272 buildings under-utilized by at least 300 seats and
- 257 buildings under-utilized by at least 150 seats but no more than 299 seats.

The number of excess seats in each building is based on capacity from the 2022-2023 Enrollment, Capacity and Utilization Report, also known as the Blue Book, and enrollment from the 2023-2024 Audited Register, adjusting for known changes that took effect within a building in the 2023-2024 school year as well as planned changes for the 2024-2025 school year that have been approved. These changes include approved proposals resulting in a significant change in school utilization<sup>1</sup>, schools phasing in additional grades, changes to building capacity through new additions, and new buildings opening in September 2024. Where such changes result in a projected excess of fewer than 150 seats, such buildings are excluded from this list. However, there are 51 buildings with planned changes where the projected number of excess seats exceeds 150 seats for the 2024-2025 school year, and those buildings are included on the list with the planned change noted. Additionally, there are nine new buildings opening in September 2024 that are projected to have an excess of at least 150 seats in the 2024-2025 school year, and those buildings have been included and noted as well.

While this list serves as an initial assessment of excess space across the city, any potential use of this space would be further assessed based on a number of factors, including but not limited to:

- The amount of classroom space available upon a closer evaluation of the building and current programming;
- The needs of the district;
- Collaboration with and feedback from Community Education Councils, School Leadership Teams, and the broader community.

Pursuant to the Education Law, any proposed significant change in school utilization (such as re-siting, co-location, grade expansion or truncation, merger, or closure) will be subject to public notice and public hearing requirements, and must be approved by the Panel for Educational Policy prior to implementation. Any proposed changes to existing zone lines, which may lead to enrollment changes, must be approved by the Community Education Council in accordance with Chancellor’s Regulation A-185.

<sup>1</sup> Includes proposals for a significant change in school utilization approved by the Panel for Educational Policy (PEP) through May 2024. These changes may include school re-sitings, truncations, expansions, mergers, closures, or new school openings.

GROUP ONE: Buildings under-utilized by 300 seats or more
